

4-POINT SUBMISSION EVALUATION

Submission Number: _____

Reviewer Initials: _____

General evaluation (check appropriate number(s)):

____ The 4 submission is extremely well-developed: ideas are extremely well-developed, highly interesting, and compelling. It fully meets the accepted standards of academic scholarship. It securely falls within the scope of the magazine's aim to promote teaching, learning, and assessment and makes a significant contribution toward this effort. The submission is of an appropriate length and requires little to no revising to be suitable for publication.

____ The 3 submission is well-developed: ideas are well-developed, nearly always interesting, and compelling. The submission meets accepted standards of academic scholarship. The submission falls within the scope of the magazine's aim to promote teaching, learning, and assessment and makes a solid contribution toward this effort. The submission requires minor adjustments/revisions to ready it for publication.

____ The 2 submission is generally developing: its ideas are sometimes competently developed, sometimes interesting, and sometimes compelling. The submission usually meets the accepted standards of academic scholarship. The submission falls within the scope of the magazine's aim to promote teaching, learning, and assessment and makes a modest contribution toward this effort. The submission requires revising to strengthen.

____ The 1 submission is underdeveloped: its ideas are incompletely developed and the writer needs to be more conscious of getting and holding the readers' attention. The submission needs to focus more clearly on the accepted standards of academic scholarship. The submission needs to be more scholarly to fall within the scope of the magazine's aims to promote teaching, learning, and assessment. The submission requires revising and/or redrafting to strengthen.

Comments to the Editor-in-Chief (not to be passed on to the authors):

Comments to the author (to be passed on to the author):